Honestly? I agree with Vertigo and Vul. Confidence, your apology seems sincere, and that's great, but you cause a panic attack. That's not okay. I'm not sure if the forumers overreacted or not because I wasn't online during the time when the trolling happened, but a forumer having a panic attack would be a good reason for other forumers to react a bit unrationally.

I forgive both Confidence and Quartz, since this was just a prank that got too out of hand, but this shouldn't happen again. So, just . . . be careful and think before you act or type, okay?

Exactly, Thunderstorm. Guys, let's make sure this doesn't happen again. I personally sorta forgive you, Confidence, but please...

Let's try and drop the topic. See if it gets any better.

I looked back in chattydress49's posts - I have no idea what this "Venus" and "chattydress49" thing is - and I'm honestly just amazed that nobody found it suspicious that on the "hey! i'm new!" thread chattydress49 and you literally posted 4 minutes apart.

Hey- just popped on quickly. An apology was made, but I don't think it really needs to be drilled home that she (i think it's a she, sorry I haven't been on in a while) caused a panic attack. I understand it was a joke taken too far, but if someone acknowleges and apologizes for their wrongs, they don't need to be reminded.
